

County okays WDGHU building in principle

By WES KELLER

Dufferin County council has agreed in principle to support construction of a $30-million, 45,000-square-foot building for Wellington Dufferin Guelph Health Unit, in Guelph.

Dr. Nicola Mercer, the medical officer of health, told the council the approximate cost of $30 million would represent a savings of about $3 million over 20 years, compared with the cost of leasing the same building.

At the same time, there would be a capital asset at the end of the 20-year period. That is estimated to be about $8.3-million.

Dufferin's share of the capital cost would be 21 per cent, or about $6.3 million. The health unit and its 155 Guelph employees are now housed at three separate locations. The new building would house them under one roof, and overcome current deficiencies such as the lack of a back-up generator, which Dr. Mercer said the unit cannot afford now, although it is storing "millions of dollars of vaccine."

(In an interview, a spokesperson clarified the value as representing the amount of vaccine distributed through the health unit, and said the amount in storage at any one time might be a fraction of that.) She said the present Delhi St. location, in addition to space and other problems, must be vacated because of an asbestos problem.

As the Guelph location is meant to service Wellington County and the city of Guelph, questions arose about disposition of the Orangeville location.

Mulmur Deputy Mayor Sue Snider asked whether the health unit would be moving its Orangeville staff to the city location.

Dr. Mercer responded that there is no such intention and, furthermore, that Orangeville would require about 15,000 square feet.

Would this mean that the health unit will be back for more money to fund Orangeville, asked Ms. Snider.

Dr. Mercer responded that the presentation was "about owning," by comparison with leasing.

Deputy Mayors Warren Maycock of Orangeville and Bill Hill of Melancthon then brought a motion of "support in principle," which was adopted after Dr. Mercer confirmed that Wellington County had passed a similar one.

Shelburne Mayor Ed Crewson asked whether the doctor was satisfied with that type of motion.

Dr. Mercer responded, "I'm pleased that the county would work with us. I couldn't in good faith (ask for all-out support) without the precise figures."

The council is expected to conduct a lot of research before making a positive commitment to the project.

Honeywood BBQ 'social event of season'

By MARNI WALSH

This Saturday, what has been viewed historically as "the social event of the season" will unfold once more at the Honeywood Arena.

For more than 50 years, citizens from miles around have travelled to the tiny community for a fine beef barbecue with all the trimmings. Rumour has it, "that in days gone by", the ladies purchased a new outfit just for the event.

The barbecue was launched in 1965 to raise funds for a new building after a suspected lightning fire destroyed the 1949 arena. (In 1949, community members logged over 5,000 hours, at 70 cents an hour, and finished the building in December of that year. The cost was $30,000.)

In 1965, history repeated itself and within eight hours of the fire, the community came together and decided to rebuild the arena. Farmers came off the silt loam fields, grabbed a bite to eat, and
