 The following posting: "If you are not in a priority group, please come back when we can offer the vaccine to non-priority groups. We are following direction from the Ministry."

The health unit says it has distributed H1N1 vaccine "to physicians who placed their orders. Check with your doctor or community health clinic."
 WDG health unit received a small shipment

(1,700 doses) of unadjuvanted Panvac H1N1 vaccine for pregnant women on Wednesday. This vaccine is part of the supplies obtained by the Public Health Agency of Canada from Australia. The unadjuvanted Panvac H1N1 vaccine will be available at some of its community clinics until supplies are gone. The Orangeville clinic will distribute the vaccine today, Friday and next Monday, depending on supply. For times, people are asked to consult the unit's website at www.wdghu.org.

Meanwhile, Headwaters Health Care Centre is operating a flu assessment clinic, where individuals will be assessed as to whether they have the H1N1 virus or not. The clinic, located at 150 Rolling Hills Drive, began on Tuesday and is open from noon to 8:00 p.m. It will continue until Friday. Patients will be seen on a first-come, first-served basis.

Flu vaccines will not be available from the flu assessment clinic. Individuals interested in receiving the flu vaccine can attend public health community flu vaccine clinics in their area.

The Headwaters' flu assessment clinic will assess individuals who want to know if they have H1N1 influenza. Patients seen within 48 hours of first experiencing symptoms may be given a prescription for anti-viral medication to reduce the severity of symptoms.

Anti-viral medication taken within two days of experiencing symptoms helps stop the flu virus from spreading inside the body. In flu treatment studies of patients who took anti-viral medication, adults felt better 30 per cent faster and children felt better 26 per cent faster.

The flu assessment clinic will help divert those with mild influenza away from the Emergency Department so hospital staff can focus on treating the most severe cases of influenza and other emergencies. The hospital is asking anyone with influenza-like symptoms to reschedule outpatient appointments or day surgery for another time when they are symptom free.

Health care officials advise if you are normally healthy and are experiencing influenza-like symptoms (fever, cough, sore throat, joint and muscle pain, headache), you should stay home until your fever is gone and you are feeling well. If your symptoms get progressively worse and you experience shortness of breath or difficulty breathing, go to the hospital emergency department.

"Vaccination is the first line of defense for flu protection," said Dr. Craig Donaldson, Chief of Emergency, Headwaters Health Care Centre.

One such private clinic is Medcan, that offers medical care to people who could afford to pay its $2,300 membership fee. Members, thanks to the Toronto Public Health donation, could get vacci-ated last week. Ontario NDP leader Andrea Horvath pressured Premier Dalton McGuinty on the subject in the legislature on Monday.

"I think the appropriate thing at this time is for the government of Ontario to tell Ontarians that they're committed to a universal public health care system in this province," said Ms. Horvath. "That's what is appropriate. Instead, worried parents are told that they need to vaccinate their kids, and when they try to do that, they find that they have to wait for hours and even days."

"Now they learn that some people who have the money at their disposal can buy their way through

A TOAST TO TRANSITION: One99 Restaurant on Broadway is expanding its menu, so to speak, with the ability to transform its customary dining area into a reception area for what co-owner Cassidy Chin calls "a high-end informal party." The transition can be done with a day's notice, by calling 519-940-3108. The reception area concept was introduced at a party Tuesday night and was looked after by staff that included, left to right, Carla Lehman, Craig Duffin and Joanne Gibson.

COMMUNITY LIVING

Dufferin Supporting People With Disabilities

Hi, I'm Vera Wales

My father was from Bermuda. My mom was born in Toronto. My mom and dad visit me often. They also call me. They are coming at the end of this month to visit and I am looking forward to seeing them. I have a sister, Marie, who has two sons and my brother, Ron is married and has two children too. They come to visit me, too. I lived at the Huronia Regional Centre for two years before I moved to the Elizabeth Nursing Home. I then moved into a home with people from CLD twenty years ago. I live with Diane, Jimmy, Linda and Catarina. I like living with them most of the time. Krissa (staff) says I like it when the house is full of laughter. I take my dishes to the counter when I am finished eating. I love to eat anything that is spicy. I like Mexican food and curry dishes. I don't like bland food. I really love to swing on the swing on the back porch. I like sitting with someone else on the swing because they can do the swinging for me. I love to hear the birds chirp. I like quiet times sitting outside. I used to go to a cottage and I would eat my breakfast so fast so that I could get outside and listen to the sounds. I love to sit outside! I went to a Jamaican festival in Belfountain with people from CLD. I didn't want to leave because I enjoyed it so much. There were kettle drums and there was Jamaican cooking and fish. I loved it! In 1997 I went to Acapulco with Krissa. I loved the Latin music and the Mexican food there. I also went to Puerto Plata. I listened to music and I loved the sun and the breeze. It was so warm there. I bought a sun hat, jewelry and a sarong there. I am saving my money to go again. Rhonda (staff) helps me save my money. When I went to the Dominican Republic with friends from CLD, I bought wind chimes made out of bamboo. I like the sound they make. I am trying to do more things on my own as well as with the people I live with. I am mostly quiet. Rhonda and other staff members are helping me show them more things so they know what I want and need. My birthday is December 1st. I want to go out for dinner with my friends. There is a new Caribbean restaurant in Orangeville and so we might go there. We are going to celebrate that I have been living here along with my housemates Diane and Linda, for twenty years now. We are going to have a party. I'm going to invite my family. I hope there is a lot of great music and food there!
